It identifies the City's housing conditions and needs, evaluates the City's ability to meet its Regional Housing Needs Assessment (RHNA), establishes the goals, objectives, and policies that are the foundation of the City's housing strategy, and provides an array of programs to create sustainable, mixed-income neighborhoods across the City. See more information at:

<https://planning.lacity.org/plans-policies/housing-element-update#draft-plan>

This update to the City's Housing Element (Plan) will be utilized through 2029, and, specifically, whatever goals and objectives are adopted will then be used to evaluate land use proposals during this period, including most proposed developments that will require any sort of discretionary approval(s). That is why UNNC is analyzing the Draft Plan, with an eye to policies, objectives and goals that may have the most impact within our neighborhoods, for possible recommendations to the Planning Department, other participating city departments and commissions, and the City Council.

The Draft Plan is organized into six chapters and an executive summary. The full plan, the Executive Summary, several chapters, and other related materials, including the slide deck from the Department's previous webinar, have been posted here, to review before the meeting:

And, in accordance with Section 54952.2. (c) (6), nothing in this section prevents the attendance of a majority of the members of a legislative body at an open and noticed meeting of a standing committee of that body.

Telecommunication Relay Services

Telephone communication is one of the most important forms of communication in society today. Due to advancements in technology, telephone devices have evolved with new services and capabilities. Individuals who are deaf and hard of hearing, and individuals with a speech disability are following these trends and are rapidly migrating to more advanced telecommunications methods, both for peer-to-peer and third-party telecommunications relay service (TRS) communications.

Telecommunications Relay Service is a telephone service that allows persons with hearing or speech disabilities to place and receive telephone calls. TRS is available in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the U.S. territories for local and/or long distance calls. TRS providers – generally telephone companies - are compensated for the costs of providing TRS from either a state or a federal fund. There is no cost to the TRS user. What forms of TRS are available? There are several forms of TRS, depending on the particular needs of the user and the equipment available: TRS includes: Text to Voice TTY-Based TRS; Speech-to-Speech Relay Service; Shared Non-English Language Relay Service; Captioned Telephone Relay Service; Internet Protocol Relay Service; and Video Relay Service.

Please visit this site for detail descriptions:

<https://www.fcc.gov/consumers/guides/telecommunications-relay-service-trs>.

Don't hang up! Some people hang up on TRS calls because they think the Communications Assistant (CA) is a telemarketer. If you hear, "Hello. This is the relay service . . ." when you pick up the phone, please don't hang up! You are about to talk, through a TRS provider, to a person who is deaf, hard-of-hearing, or has a speech disability.

If you have limitations hearing or speaking a specially-trained CA can relay telephone conversations for all of your calls. In California, dial 711 to reach the California Relay Service (CRS). If you prefer having your calls immediately answered in your mode of communication, dial one of the toll-free modality- and language-specific numbers below. The call will be routed to the CRS provider.

Federal regulations specify very strict confidentiality requirements for CAs of all Relay services. No part of the conversation that takes place between callers is revealed or recorded in written, verbal, or any other form. CRS CAs do not participate in the conversation and acquire no benefit from information relayed.
